Introducing Duncan Africa guitars! These hand-made custom quality guitars are produced in Uganda, by a local company with local workers. For one night only, you are invited into the exclusive and prestigious Foundation Room at the House of Blues (Hollywood) for this very special event.

We are excited to showcase this unique product - a product inspired by one individual's burden for social justice, and rooted in the same passions that many of you have to make a difference in the lives of real individuals in real need.

There will be live entertainment specifically tailored to profile the beauty and sound of these wonderful instruments. In addition, there will be several guitars from the factory in Uganda that you can actually handle and play. Interested in buying one?! That opportunity will be available too!
